

Sample Tweets

This sample tweet list is meant to serve as a head start to promoting Speak Up via Twitter, Facebook, or other social media. Fill in your school or district name in the highlighted areas, and feel free to use or customize these tweets to share your school/district's involvement in the nationwide conversation about technology and education and to encourage others to do the same! We will share additional social media updates throughout the survey period.

October 15th-January 18th

- Parents, help close the #homeworkgap by providing data to North Carolina through the #SpeakUpsurvey at speakup.tomorrow.org
- North Carolina wants to know what our students, parents & faculty think about tech & learning! We'll be "speaking up" this fall! <http://bit.ly/SUhome>
- Parents, to learn more about Speak Up before participating in this nationwide educational survey, see this FAQ page: <http://bit.ly/PUS23q>
- Speak Up surveys are available through 1/18! Parents, make your voice heard about education and technology! speakup.tomorrow.org
- Join us & the 5.4mil students, parents, teachers, & admins who have participated in Speak Up since '03! Speak Up now: speakup.tomorrow.org
- 90% of students say mobile devices are important. What do our students think? Get involved with the #SpeakUpsurvey at speakup.tomorrow.org
- Take the Speak Up survey to ensure your voice is heard! speakup.tomorrow.org
- North Carolina Parents, your participation in Speak Up is important! Help us collect valuable data @ speakup.tomorrow.org
- Be part of the conversation! Parents: we want to hear your thoughts on tech & learning speakup.tomorrow.org

Last minute tweets

- Only a few more days to share your views on tech & learning! Speak Up before 1/18 to make sure your voice is heard! speakup.tomorrow.org
- Need a last min activity before winter break? Dedicate 15 min to the #SpeakUpsurvey! speakup.tomorrow.org
- Speak Up about issues regarding the use of mobile devices and tablets in schools: speakup.tomorrow.org
- Don't forget to submit your Speak Up surveys before winter break begins! Visit speakup.tomorrow.org to share your thoughts.